

The DAILY WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

Editor's Note: The Brass Ring, awarded this week to Dave Beck, boss of the American Federation of Labor stronghold in the Northwest, is "good for one free ride on The Washington Merry-Go-Round."

Washington—President Roosevelt met a lot of politically powerful people on his trip West—Governors, Senators, Congressmen; local bosses, newspaper publishers and leading business executives, any one of whom commanded considerable weight and prestige in his community. But by far the most powerful was a beefy, bald-headed gentleman who bears only the innocuous title of "Organizer for the International Brotherhood of Teamsters in the 11 Rocky Mountain and Pacific Coast States," but who actually is the czar of Seattle and the dominant factor in the Northwest.

The gentleman in question is Dave Beck, sometimes called the John L. Lewis of the West, though he uses tactics that make Lewis seem meek and mild in comparison.

By these tactics, Beck has fought the CIO to a standstill and made the Northwest the one stronghold where the A. F. of L. still reigns supreme.

In accomplishing this he has thumbed his nose at the courts, denounced the New Deal's National Labor Relations Board, put the Mayor of Seattle in his pocket, and got the Governors of both Oregon and Washington eating out of his hand.

Just a few weeks ago, Governor Charles Martin of Oregon accommodated Beck by smashing a CIO strike with state police.

It is no stretch of the imagination to say that it is impossible to carry on any important business in the city of Seattle—Beck's home and stronghold—without the cooperation of his labor czar.

Roosevelt's Son-in-law

Beck has made Seattle the most completely unionized city in the United States. Everyone, from clerks in department stores to bellhops in hotels, carries a union card.

When the Newspaper Guild went on strike against The Seattle Post-Intelligencer about a year ago, that paper was forced to close down chiefly because Dave Beck would not let it. He merely refused to let his teamsters haul its paper.

A year later when the Newspaper Guild pulled another strike, this time against The Seattle Star, it was a flat failure—all because Dave Beck was on the other side. For by this time, the Guild had joined the CIO, and Beck was its vehement enemy.

One of the first things which John Boettiger, son-in-law of the President, did when he became publisher of The Post-Intelligencer, was to form a friendship with Dave Beck. Some say it was the other way around, and that Dave Beck decided to take the President's son-in-law into camp. In either case, the two are now boon companions and apparently it pays.

Boettiger has had no more strikes and Beck has been able to give the appearance of basking in the favor of his friend's presidential father-in-law.

Anti-New Deal

Actually Beck is anything but a New Dealer. He masquerades as one whenever it is convenient—such as during presidential pilgrimages to Seattle. But his real political creed can be simply stated as "more power for labor"—that is, his labor.

Politically Beck backs the man who will take orders, and this is one reason he has not backed Senators Bone and Schwelienbach, both staunch New Dealers, both close to the President, but both too independent for Dave Beck.

To defeat Bone next year he is planning to run Mayor John Dore of Seattle; and to defeat Schwelienbach in 1940 he plans to run Governor Clarence Martin. Whether he can succeed is doubtful. Bone and Schwelienbach both are strong in the State of Washington.

Labor Ladder

Dave Beck climbed the ladder to labor fame as the driver of a laundry wagon. He started as a boy, being forced to quite high school in order to augment the family income.

Later he became an organizer of the Laundry Drivers' Union, in which he was so active that he attracted the attention of the national organization.

Only 43 years old, Beck now has the bearing and accoutrements of a big business executive, with more power than most. He sits in a modernistic office, surrounded by buzzers, inter-office telephones and secretaries.

He has a go-getter personality, can be suave and charming, or as

WOMAN PLUNGES TO DEATH FROM CHICAGO HOTEL

Note Pinned to Night Clothing Directs the Authorities

Chicago, Oct. 9.—(AP)—A young woman, with a note pinned to her blue silk pajamas bearing the name of Miss Flossie Castor of Champaign, Ill., plunged to her death early today from the window of a 12th floor room of a hotel on Michigan boulevard.

Her body, clad in the pajamas and wrapped with a bedspread, was discovered on a roof over a courtyard at the fourth floor level by L. E. Richardson, a guest at the hotel, who called a house detective.

Police said they did not know whether the young woman had jumped or fallen to her death.

Miss Castor had observed her twenty-seventh anniversary yesterday.

The note pinned to her pajamas read:

"My name is Miss Flossie A. Castor, 509 South Fourth street, Champaign, Ill. Please notify Mrs. Fred B. Campbell of the same address, telephone 8788."

The note was in ink on hotel stationery.

Detective Rack said a handkerchief was found stuffed into the girl's mouth. Central station police expressed belief that it had been placed there to keep her from screaming during the plunge.

Hotel authorities said a Miss Castor had registered yesterday and had been assigned to a room on the 12th floor.

HAD APPEARED HAPPY

Champaign, Ill., Oct. 9.—(AP)—Miss Flossie Castor, who plunged to her death from a Chicago hotel window today, observed her twenty-seventh birthday anniversary yesterday.

Friends and executives of the Eisner Grocery, where the girl had worked for 10 years since leaving high school, said she had been one of the "most efficient workers in the office" and had appeared happy.

She was survived by her widowed mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Castor.

Mrs. Fred Campbell, mentioned in a note pinned to Miss Castor's pajamas, was an aunt. She said the girl had been in good spirits when she left home as usual yesterday dressed for work.

Miss Castor was born in Penfield, and was graduated from Danville high school. Burial will be at Penfield.

A coroner's jury decided at the inquest Miss Castor killed herself in a period of insanity brought on by overwork.

Her uncle, Fred B. Campbell of Champaign, with whose family Miss Castor lived, said she had left for work at 7:30 A. M. yesterday apparently in good spirits.

"She never was in any trouble either in the family or with friends," Campbell testified. "She worked very hard—sometimes into the night—to keep up her job as a bookmaker. Although most of the time she appeared happy and normal, occasionally she became depressed."

Campbell said the family knew nothing of her absence from work until notified by Miss Castor's fellow employees at 1 P. M. yesterday. They reported her disappearance to state police last night, he said.

Caller De Luxe

Draper, Va., Oct. 9.—(AP)—P. G. Pratt, hog summoner de luxe, didn't know his own strength.

Pratt hollered mightily at a community fair hog calling contest and won first prize hands down. Then he walked two miles home.

There grouped by the fence, still enthralled by their master's voice, his entire passel of pigs pressed, squealing for their dinner.

Practicing JOLIE PRISON FARM CAPTURED

Two Headed Back to Cells, Third Critically Wounded

Joliet, Ill., Oct. 9.—(AP)—Sky writing over the Stateville penitentiary puzzled and perturbed prison guards yesterday. Numbers and letters fashioned by streams of white smoke from a high-flying airplane looked more like a cryptic message to prisoners than an advertisement.

Nelson Mundell, a state inspector at the municipal airport, traced the mystery ship to a landing field nearby. There he encountered the pilot, Jim Rose of Chicago.

"What do you mean by signaling the convicts?" he asked Rose. "You're in trouble."

"Trouble!" exclaimed Rose. "I wasn't signaling anybody. I'm a professional skywriter and was just practicing my alphabet."

Chicago, Oct. 9.—(AP)—Two of three convicts who escaped from the Stateville prison farm at Joliet, Ill., after slugging a guard, were headed toward penitentiary cells today. The third was in a critical condition from a gunshot wound inflicted by police who captured the trio here.

The convicts, all serving terms for robbery, were James Pogue, 28, William Hanley, 37, and Eugene Moorehead, 28. All would have been eligible for release within 10 months.

Capt. Frank Malone posted 14 men around the home of Mrs. Agnes Puckart, 70, Hanley's aunt, last night after receiving information the convicts were hiding in the widow's basement flat.

Fired Into Dark Room

Detective Thomas O'Connell fired his shotgun in a darkened room after seeing a dim figure which he said carried a pistol. The charge struck Moorehead in the arm and abdomen. Moorehead's companions were found cowering in another room, one in a clothes closet and the other in a bed.

Miss Verna Thomas, 27, a graduate nurse who told Policeman John P. Daly she and Moorehead "used to be sweethearts," swallowed poison today because "I decided I didn't want to live" after learning Moorehead had been shot.

At a hospital where contents of her stomach were pumped, physicians said she would recover.

Mrs. Puckart told police, the latter said, she had been a virtual prisoner since her nephew and his companions forced their way into her home early yesterday. She was absent at the time of the raid.

The felons felled guard J. W. Black with a rock early Thursday, seized Guard Alfred Drungen and fled in the latter's automobile. Drungen was released unharmed about two miles from the farm.

Find Car

Police said their first trace of the convicts was the finding of the car in which they fled. It had been abandoned in the neighborhood of the flat where they were captured.

Lieut. Thomas Kelly of the state's attorney's police, who questioned the prisoners, said Pogue complained because his application for a parole was not granted last April. The captured felon told him, Kelly said, that he believed he would have to serve more time, so he escaped with the intention of going to Bermuda.

Kelly related that Pogue said the escape was planned at a meeting of the three after dinner Wednesday night. "Pogue told me that at first he refused to join Moorehead in the attempt, but changed his mind when he was informed that Hanley also was to take part in the break," the lieutenant stated.

ESCAPE FRUSTRATED

LaGrange, Ky., Oct. 9.—(AP)—The cool nerve of a railroad station agent whose automobile had been commandeered by five escaping Kentucky prison farm convicts was credited today for frustration of the attempted break.

One convict, Jim Russell, 27, of Harlan county, was shot to death in an ensuing gun battle with two guards.

Hillard Spicer, 19, was wounded. He and the other three were recaptured.

Giants Discover Use of Bats: Win With Hubbell; 7-3

McCarthy's Second String Pitchers In-effective

Polo Grounds, New York, Oct. 9.—(AP)—Backed by his mates' first outburst of hitting fireworks in four games, King K. Hubbell subdued the mighty Yankee bats today with his six-pitching performance and hurled the Giants to a 7 to 3 victory for their first triumph of the 1937 World Series. The Yankees still lead three games to one and need but one more victory to retain the championship.

Story of the game:

FIRST INNING

Yankees: Crosetti hoisted to Whitehead. Rolfe dropped a hit in centerfield and ran all the way to third when Leiber failed in an attempted circus catch. It was scored as a triple as Leiber turned a somersault and the ball skidded past him. Ripple made a spectacular one-hand stab of Di Maggio's terrific smash to the bullpen in deep right center. Rolfe scored easily after the catch. Gehrig fouled to McCarthy.

One run, one hit.

Giants: Moore flied to Hoag on the first pitch. Bartell popped to Dickey between the plate and third base. Ott lined a single to right. Crosetti threw out Ripple on a close play at first. The shortstop's throw hit the dirt but Gehrig made a nice pickup.

SECOND INNING

Yankees: Dickey flied to Leiber. Hoag smashed a single through the middle of the diamond. Selkirk walked to center, scoring Leiber to three and two. Lazzari lined into a double play when Whitehead grabbed his hard smash and tossed to Bartell to double Hoag.

Giants: Leiber smashed the first pitch to center for a single. McCarthy singled to right. Leiber stopped at second. Crosetti tried the hidden ball trick but it didn't work. Danning dropped a single in right field. Selkirk leaped and advancing McCarthy, Andrews started warming up in the Yankee bullpen. Whitehead's boulder hit Danning on the baseline and the catcher was out as automatic. Lazzari popped to Leiber for a single. Whitehead reached first. McCarthy reached the plate but under the rules was sent back to third. Hubbell rolled to Lazzari and McCarthy scored as Whitehead reached second. Lazzari's throw to the plate was wide. Moore singled to center, scoring Whitehead and sending Hubbell to second. Hadley was taken out of the box and replaced by Andrews. Bartell swung sharply to center, scoring Hubbell and sending Moore to second. On Di Maggio's throw to Dickey it appeared Hubbell was caught but he sidestepped and was declared safe by Umpire Stewart. The Yankees squawked long and loud. Ott fanned swinging with the count two and two. Ripple walked on four straight balls filling the bases. Leiber dropped a single in short left-center, scoring Moore and Bartell. Ripple threw to Leiber's second hit of the inning. The Yankees went into a huddle. There was renewed activity in the bullpen. McCarthy grounded out. Lazzari to Gehrig, to retire the side.

Six runs, seven hits, two left.

THIRD INNING

Yankees: Andrews grounded to Bartell in deep short and was safe when the shortstop's high throw pulled McCarthy off the base. It was an error for Bartell. Crosetti forced Andrews. Whitehead to Bartell, but the Giant shortstop threw wildly past McCarthy in the attempt for a double-play and Crosetti ran to second. Bartell's changed to another error. Moore made a sliding catch of Rolfe's short drive to left center. Ott threw wildly past McCarthy after grabbing Di Maggio's roller. Crosetti scoring and Di Maggio reaching second on a throw. Lazzari grounded out to McCarthy unassisted.

One run, no hits, three errors.

Giants: Danning beat out a bunt down the third base line for a single. Whitehead forced Danning. Lazzari to Crosetti, but beat the relay to first base. Whitehead stole second. Dickey's throw got past Lazzari but the catcher was not charged. Andrews to Gehrig as Whitehead reached third. Moore popped to Crosetti.

Yankees: Dickey lined to Ripple on the first pitch. The outfielder took the ball with his back against the right-field wall. Hoag grounded out. Whitehead to McCarthy. Selkirk flied to Leiber in right center. No runs, no hits.

Giants: Bartell lined to Di Maggio. Ott grounded out to Gehrig unassisted. Ripple walked on four straight balls. Leiber lined to Di Maggio on the first pitch.

FIFTH INNING

Yankees: Lazzari drove a single over second base. Andrews fanned swinging at three straight pitches. Crosetti batted into a double play. Hubbell to Whitehead to McCarthy.

No runs, one hit.

Giants: Lazzari threw out McCarthy. Rolfe made a nice stop of Danning's hopper and threw him out. Crosetti threw out Whitehead.

No runs.

Giants: Bartell lined to Di Maggio. Ott grounded out to Gehrig unassisted. Ripple walked on four straight balls. Leiber lined to Di Maggio on the first pitch.

SEVENTH INNING

Yankees: Rolfe flied to Leiber. Hoag smashed a single through the middle of the diamond. Selkirk walked to center, scoring Leiber to three and two. Lazzari lined into a double play when Whitehead grabbed his hard smash and tossed to Bartell to double Hoag.

Giants: Leiber smashed the first pitch to center for a single. McCarthy singled to right. Leiber stopped at second. Crosetti tried the hidden ball trick but it didn't work. Danning dropped a single in right field. Selkirk leaped and advancing McCarthy, Andrews started warming up in the Yankee bullpen. Whitehead's boulder hit Danning on the baseline and the catcher was out as automatic. Lazzari popped to Leiber for a single. Whitehead reached first. McCarthy reached the plate but under the rules was sent back to third. Hubbell rolled to Lazzari and McCarthy scored as Whitehead reached second. Lazzari's throw to the plate was wide. Moore singled to center, scoring Whitehead and sending Hubbell to second. Hadley was taken out of the box and replaced by Andrews. Bartell swung sharply to center, scoring Hubbell and sending Moore to second. On Di Maggio's throw to Dickey it appeared Hubbell was caught but he sidestepped and was declared safe by Umpire Stewart. The Yankees squawked long and loud. Ott fanned swinging with the count two and two. Ripple walked on four straight balls filling the bases. Leiber dropped a single in short left-center, scoring Moore and Bartell. Ripple threw to Leiber's second hit of the inning. The Yankees went into a huddle. There was renewed activity in the bullpen. HULL DRAFTING POLICY FOR U. S. AGENTS AT MEET

American Plans To Curb Japan Not Made Public

Washington, Oct. 9.—(AP)—Secretary Hull and his aides, pursuing a course charted personally by President Roosevelt, put the finishing touches today to an outline of policy for American delegates to the nine-power parley designed to curb Japan's invasion of China. No hint of the nature of this policy was disclosed after extended conferences the president held yesterday with his chief diplomatic advisers and the cabinet.

It was believed, however, a definite decision was reached on the lengths to which the United States will go in collaborating with other governments to apply the president's suggested "quarantine" of Japan.

Neither did state department officials have any immediate comment on the Japanese reply to its condemnation.

The date and place of the nine-power meeting, and possibly other details, were understood to have been discussed yesterday and last night by Hugh Wilson, assistant secretary of state, and V. A. L. Mallet, charge d'affaires of the British embassy.

Britain is one of the nine-power treaty adherents designated by the League of Nations to invite the United States—also a treaty signatory but not a league member—to the proposed conference.

There was no indication that any of the powers now intends to propose that the conference be held in Washington.

CHINA STRESSES PLEA

Geneva, Oct. 9.—(AP)—China pleading that the war with Japan daily is proving more disastrous to her, today urged speedy convocation of the nine power treaty conference to adopt effective measures to end the conflict.

Acceptance of a league invitation to China, one of the adherents to the treaty guaranteeing her territorial integrity, to participate in the conference, came in a cablegram from Nanking. China's capital, signed by Wang Chung-Hui, her foreign minister.

"I have been appraised of the invitation extended by your excellency (Aga Khan, president of the league assembly) in pursuance of the resolution adopted by the assembly October 7, to the Chinese government to initiate with other signatories of the nine-power treaty consultation regarding the situation arising out of the aggressive action of Japanese armed forces in China."

"The Chinese government gladly accepts the invitation and expresses hope that as Japan's armed invasion of China is proving more and more disastrous in its effects with the passing of every day that the powers concerned will lose no time proceeding with such consultation as is contemplated and adopt the most useful and effective measures to put an immediate end to the conflict."

GREYHOUND BUS DRIVERS TO GO ON BIG WALKOUT

Company Will Attempt to Keep Their Cars in Operation

Cleveland, Oct. 9.—(AP)—Eight Greyhound bus lines, facing a strike of 1,200 drivers called for 5 a. m. tomorrow, planned today to operate "as long as physically able."

The Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen ordered the walkout on the pale blue Greyhound buses which serve a territory bounded by St. Louis, Chicago, Detroit, Buffalo, the New England states, New York, Washington, Norfolk, Va., Louisville and Cincinnati.

"We intend to operate just as long as we can with a number of the men who have indicated they were willing to continue to work," said R. W. Budd, president of the two New England Greyhound lines and of central Illinois lines.

Budd and S. R. Sundstrom, president of Pennsylvania and Richmond Greyhound lines, said, however, that no inexperienced men would be hired to keep their lines running. Sundstrom's office said "we understand furloughed men are being called back in some places" to keep the fleets moving.

S. R. Harvey, assistant president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen which called the strike to enforce demands for a blanket contract covering all eight of the concerns, claimed the drivers were organized nearly 100 per cent.

TO GO TO COURT

Washington, Oct. 9.—(AP)—Charlton Ogburn, counsel for the American Federation of Labor, said today he would carry to the courts a refusal by the national labor relations board to order a collective bargaining election among drivers of Greyhound bus lines.

"I may ask for an injunction against the board's refusal or I may appeal the decision to a circuit court," he said.

The labor board certified the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen as the bargaining agent for the bus drivers on the basis of comparison of membership lists with company payrolls.

Ogburn, representing the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employees, then petitioned the board for the election.

"Scarlet Circle" Slayer Warns of Intention That He'll 'Kill Again'

New York, Oct. 9.—(AP)—A cryptic message received by police—purportedly from the phantom "scarlet circle" slayer of Lewis Weiss, 20, and his 19-year-old sweetheart, Frances Hajek—was quoted today as threatening: "I will kill again."

Deputy Chief Inspector John J. Ryan, while withholding further details of the message, indicated his belief it was genuine and from the apparently maniacal slayer himself.

Inspector Ryan immediately ordered 137 policemen armed to emergency duty for night patrol in the vicinity of the lonely Hollis Woodlands, near Queens Village, Long Island, where the bullet-pierced bodies of the young lovers were discovered by a stroller Sunday, slumped in the front seat of Weiss' parked car.

Seven stab wounds, inflicted with a stiletto or a thin-bladed hunting knife, had ripped into Hajek's body in addition to two bullets fired at close quarters into her temple.

CHICAGO CROSSING ACCIDENT

Chicago, Oct. 9.—(AP)—Five members of one family alighted safely from their stalled automobile before it was struck by a Chicago, Aurora and Elgin train last night, but two other members of the family were unable to scramble out in time and were injured.

Mrs. Lois Balleau, 42, suffered a fractured spine and her two-year-old daughter, Doris, was bruised by the crash. They were saved from possible death by the quick action of a crossing watchman who ran up the track waving a red lantern. His signal slowed the train before it struck the automobile.

Raymond Balleau, 22, driver of the car, and other members of the family had attempted to push the automobile off the tracks.

ARREST TWO COOK CO. YOUTHS HERE

Frank Bartolo and Ernest Reichert, two Cook county youths, arrested early yesterday morning by Patrolmen Jones and Bohnstiel after wrecking a stolen Buick sedan as they entered Dixon on the Lincoln Highway from the east, were taken back to Chicago this morning. Detectives Thomas J. Dohney and Frank Liskowski from the Cook county state attorney's office came to Dixon about 11 o'clock this morning with warrants for the return of the pair.

Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Sosnovski of Phoenix in Cook county, owners of the stolen car also arrived in Dixon this morning to arrange for the return of the wrecked machine. At the city hall jail, Mr. Sosnovski told Patrolman Clarence Seagren that the two youths held up a young woman on the streets of Phoenix last Wednesday evening.

REBELS BREAK UP

IRON RING WHICH

DEFENDED GILON

Hendaye, Franco-Spanish Frontier, Oct. 9.—(AP)—Advancing columns of Spanish insurgents have broken the "iron ring" defending Gilon, their general headquarters announced today.

Infantry and planes attacked simultaneously yesterday in eastern

Oviedo (Asturias) province, a

Salamanca communique said, and cracked fortified front lines of the government, or Asturian, militia along the upper Sella river, about 30 air miles southeast of Gilon.

The insurgent attack developed after the fast-changing autumn weather had delayed the offensive temporarily and the Asturian

counter-offensive at Covadonga, on the eastern front, broke against the insurgents' superior strength.

The Asturias, however, still held Canas de Onia and a strategic stretch of fortifications on lower Sella river, leading the insurgents with much ground to conquer before they could call the entire northern, Biscayan coast their own.

The insurgents started clean-up operations in the Sabinaigo sector along the Gallego river, on the upper Aragon front, in northern

Spain, repairing communication lines damaged by recent government attacks.

High School Doings

Activities Among Students at D. H. S. Reported By One of Their Number Today

By "DASH," JR.

Eddie Callahan's foot is healing very nicely. The poisoning is disappearing and he is out for practice regularly. Incidentally, he has been playing on the varsity team in all the practice sessions this week, and he will probably start against Mendota this coming Saturday.

"Gus" Swan was so tired Thursday morning that he preferred to slowly roast rather than move his arm from the extremely warm radiator. His head of course, was resting on his hand. Maybe he was just trying to melt a little off of himself, and develop his marvelous physique to an even more perfect condition than it is now in. What do you think? But what's your opinion against thousands of others, who regard him as the Atlas of D. H. S.? He is truly a modern Hercules with his bulging muscles and his catlike grace. Nowhere, say the students of Dixon high, can one be found who can equal his physical skill. If there are any who think themselves equal to this face, he will take on all comers.

Thursday afternoon "Moe" Utley, "Gus" (Hercules) Swan, "Sammy" Mottar, "Huck" Richards, and another student whose name has not been mentioned, were late for the first afternoon session. They say that they had a flat tire and had to get out and fix it. In doing this they are said to have encountered innumerable difficulties, and as a result were detained so long as to be late for school by about ten minutes. Our beloved friend and assistant in the offices, Stella Smith, appeared to be a little doubtful of this explanation, but who knows? Nevertheless, they did not have to make up any time because one is excused for the first two times that one is tardy. After that, however, it is required that they make up thirty minutes outside of school as a punishment. This isn't half bad, as it can be made up by coming in at 8:00 A. M. for two successive mornings and spending fifteen extra minutes in the home room each of these mornings.

Question: Why is it that when a teacher is explaining something to a student, that student will keep repeating "Yes" throughout the explanation when he or she really doesn't understand beans about the situation? This has proven true upon countless occasions when a study was being made of this reaction. If anyone has a logical (or otherwise) answer for this question, it would be appreciated if he or she would turn this answer in to this writer. If this is done, the answer will be published in this column. Think hard, you students, and try to reason this out. It's really a puzzle.

During a scrimmage which was held last Wednesday between the "A" and "B" teams in the form of a regular game, the "B" team made a touchdown on the varsity team after a sustained march of about 60 yards up the field to the goal line. This march consisted mostly of passes, the majority of which were completed. With the fourth down coming up, and the goal to go, which was about a yard from where the ball lay, "Huck" Richards carried it over for the score, which was the only one of the evening. For the past two years, "Huck" has played tackle, but after the Rockford game this year he was switched to fullback, in which position he played the greater part of the Belvidere game. This is on the lightweight team, of course. He is showing up very well in this position, having cracked the center of the line for many fine gains last Saturday against Belvidere. The "first" team was very mortified and ashamed after having been scored upon by the lightweight team, but it was just their "off night."

The students at D. H. S. were urged to write to "Dutch" Reagan and compliment him on his performance in "Love Is On the Air," which was a very fine show. That it was a fine show was only natural since "Dixon's own movie star" was in it. It was announced to the students that the popularity of an actor is what makes him famous, and since we all want "Dutch" to rank with Gable and Garbo, we should write him a lot of fan mail and help to make him famous. His address is simply—Warner Bros. Studio, Hollywood, California. Here's hoping a lot of students write to him as soon as they can.

Odd Sock Day did not turn out very well due to the fact that not very many of the guys wore odd socks. There were some who did, but it was a very small number compared to the student body. "Percy" Weinman must have misunderstood what was supposed to be odd because he came to school wearing odd shoes. That was all right though, but he should have waited and we would have had an Odd Shoe Day some time. Maybe we can have one yet.

Wanda Walder had an operation on her foot about two weeks ago, and it is all bandaged up. During chemistry class the other day Wanda had her shoe and sock off, showing the foot to Robert Minnihan. "Minnie" started to laugh and everyone turned around to see what was so funny, including

Mr. Sharpe. Was Wanda embarrassed with her bare foot hanging out? You said it.

There was a general assembly Friday at dear old D. H. S. Mr. Frazer began the assembly by speaking of the football game the following day and urging all who could to be present. The feature of the assembly, however, was a performance given by Giovanni Sperandio. He is minus his left arm and his right hand, due to a railroad accident. This has not hindered him in his work, however. He came to America from Sicily, where he was born, when he was fifteen years old, and he was unable to speak one word of English. It was soon after he came over that he was in the aforementioned accident and everyone in his family thought he was going to be an awful burden to the family because of this handicap, but he went to school and learned to read and sing, and he fixed up a strap for his wrist which would enable him to feed himself. After much laborious practice he achieved this feat. Gradually he began to be able to help himself in many ways. He loved music and this love for music brought him and his wife together. He says that love and music will always keep them together, too. The program started with a couple of Italian songs by Sperandio, accompanied by his wife at the piano. Then he demonstrated the many things which he could do despite his disadvantage. One of the things which he performed was drinking coffee. He did this several ways and then said that if anyone could guess the last way that he drank coffee, he would give them a picture of himself. Instantly the hand of Kenneth Gehant went up. The artist asked him what he thought and he said, "Through a straw." This was correct and Kenneth received a picture of Mr. Sperandio. Mr. Sperandio's last name, which is derived from Latin, means "faith in God," and he says that he has always lived up to his name, by always having faith in God. He claims to be the only armless vocalist and concert artist in the world. He says that by making these claims he is not boasting, but just showing what one can do if they have the determination to go out and do what they set out to do. He claims that everyone should have a definite aim in life, and should stick to this aim throughout his or her life. Sperandio's motto is "Work wins".

The assembly was held between 11 and 12 and about the time that Mr. Sperandio was through, everyone was hungry, so Mr. Frazer dismissed the gathering, and told the boys to remember that girls are always first. So the boys had to wait until the girls were out of the assembly before they could leave.

ASHTON NEWS

Ashton.—The mother and daughter banquet, sponsored by the Willing Workers' Sunday school class of the Evangelical church, was held in the basement of the church last evening with about 50 present.

Promptly at 6:30 o'clock the mothers and daughters were seated at tables arranged in the form of a Dutch mill with a beautiful centerpiece composed of a Dutch girl and boy with a pot of tulips. The Dutch banquet of three courses was served by waitresses dressed in blue uniforms with white collars and cuffs and dainty white aprons.

The combination favor and place card consisted of a Dutch girl in blue and white with a windmill on her back. The menu cards were printed in Dutch blue ink with a miniature Dutch mill on the front page. Following the banquet a very interesting program was presented. The program was as follows:

Toastmistress, Mrs. Milton Vaupe. Toast to daughters, Mrs. A. R. Kersten. Toast to mothers, Gail Bailey. Two vocal numbers, Ladies' quartet. A tour of Holland, Mrs. Dora E. Kuehne. Vocal solo, "The Little Dutch Mill," Mrs. Roy Krug. Music during the serving of the banquet was furnished by Mrs. Frank Kersten and daughter Miss Lois. Much credit is due to the various committees who made this banquet such a success.

W. M. S. Meeting. The Woman's Missionary Society of the Evangelical church will meet at the home of Mrs. Roy C. Heibenthal on Wednesday, Oct. 13 at 2 P. M. The devotions will be in charge of Mrs. P. O. Bailey and the lesson study will be presented by Mrs. Katie J. Hart. All members and friends of the society are most cordially invited to attend.

The Queen Esther Circle of the Methodist church will be entertained at the home of Mrs. Clarence Hart on Tuesday evening, October 12 at 8 o'clock. Mrs. Hart will be assisted by Mrs. Clarence Paddock, Mrs. A. C. Nankivil and Mrs. W. T. Jenkins. Each member is requested to come dressed in costume. The members of the circle are asked to meet at the home of Mrs. Wm. F. Klingebiel at 7:20 P. M. and the Richard Sunday bus will convey them to the country home of Mrs. Hart.

Mr. and Mrs. John A. Reitz were shoppers in Dixon Thursday afternoon.

Misses Mina and Clara Krug, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Krug returned Friday morning from Chicago, after spending several days there visiting relatives and friends. Miss Clara is enjoying a vacation from her duties at the Home Town bakery, and during her absence Miss Lois Kersten has been working at the bakery.

Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Boyd and daughter Esther spent Sunday at Naperville where they visited their daughter Miss Ruth, who has returned for her second year at North Central college. Ruth is majoring in music and sings in the First Evangelical church choir. She is a member of the college orchestra and the college band. Ruth accompanies the college octette and is the accompanist for Professor Baer, her voice teacher.

Mr. and Mrs. Alby Krug and daughter Elaine of McHenry are spending their vacation in Ashton. They have spent several days with Conrad F. Krug, Alby's father, and at the Clarence Paddock home. Alby is the manager of a large National Tea Company store in McHenry, and the home town folks are always glad to welcome him back for they are proud of their young people who are making a success in the business world.

The funeral services of the late Mrs. Mary Miller which were held in the Evangelical church, Thursday afternoon, were largely attended. Mrs. Miller's death occurred on Tuesday morning at her home south of Franklin Grove.

Mrs. Miller whose maiden name was Mary Lena Nass was born May 1, 1866 in Bradford township and died Oct. 5, 1937 at the age of 71 years, five months and four days. She joined the Ashton Evangelical church in early childhood and has been a very faithful attendant until ill health kept her at home.

On February 4, 1892 she was united in marriage with Harvey M. Miller of Franklin Grove. Five children were born to this union, one son dying in infancy, and the four remaining children are: Mrs. Bertha Krug of Ashton, Frank J. Miller of Dixon, and Roy H. Miller and Elmer J. Miller of Franklin Grove.

On Oct. 6, 1923 Mrs. Miller was called upon to mourn the death of her husband. Those surviving her are, four children, three grandchildren and two brothers, Oscar Nass of Franklin Grove and Harry Nass of Ashton.

Rev. P. O. Bailey, pastor of the Evangelical church, had charge of the funeral services and burial was made in the Emmert cemetery west of Franklin.

The Junior class of the Ashton high school is busy this week selling magazines. The class was divided in two parts with Norma Jenkins and Wallace Yenerich as captains. A representative from the Curtis Publishing Company met with the class and presented his proposition. The winning side will receive a box of candy while individual members will win prizes for the number of magazines which they sell.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Heibenthal and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Schafer motored to Chicago Thursday and attended the city series game.

Raymond Losey, who last spring purchased the residence property of the late Hattie Bowers, has been improving the same with several coats of paint. The work has been done by Mr. Losey and Milford Wisman.

Workmen have been busy this week putting a new slate shingle roof on the Andrew Kaecker residence. This adds much to the appearance of the house.

Amboy High School News

(Note: The following items of news from Amboy high school have been written by the students and sent by special arrangement to the Telegraph.)

Seniors Select Photographer. Any day you may expect to see the seniors dolling up, ready to get a look at the "birdie". The committee in charge have been interviewing different photographers. They have decided that Irving O. Blankenberg of Kankakee had the most satisfactory offer and so have contracted his services. Mr. Blankenberg is the photographer who made the pictures for the seniors three years ago. At that time the class was very well pleased with his work.

G. A. A. Enjoys Outing. The cabin of Fred Leake, Sr. was the scene of much gaiety last Friday evening and Saturday morning. Leaving Friday at 5:00 P. M. the G. A. A. girls, over twenty in number, cooked their supper at the cabin. After this hearty meal, several teachers drove out from Amboy, and the evening was spent in dancing, roasting marshmallows, and popping corn.

The next morning the girls awakened with hearty appetites for the delicious breakfast that the cooks prepared for them. The morning was spent engaging in several different sports. Sooa after dinner, the girls returned to their homes. The party was chaperoned by Miss Batson, sponsor of the G. A. A. organization.

Junior Class Selects Play. As has been the custom, the Junior class will present their play in the fall. A committee composed of Joan Lynch, Lucille Auchstetter, and Philip Oilmann have been reading a number of plays. After much consideration as to which play would be best, they have chosen the farce "The Tin Hero". The play will be presented November 19, in the high school auditorium. Miss Sawlaw will direct the cast.

Youth's Question. Youth's inevitable question, "What Shall I Be?" may find its answer in a set of seventy-seven monographs put out by the Chicago Institute of Research. These are now available in the library.

Have you decided as to what career you would like to follow? Do you know how to go about selecting a career? Is the field over-crowded? All these questions and more too, you will find answered concerning any career in which you may be interested.

Each career is analyzed very carefully. A national survey was taken on the vocation which covers the attractive and unattractive sides of the work, the opportunities at the start, ultimate opportunities, personal qualifications required, commissions, source of income, salaries and average earnings. Also is given the maximum earnings for those of unusual ability and good fortune. How to get started in a career and the approximate amount of capital, education or special training would be required to make a success are other types of information. Another interesting section of each pamphlet is an article entitled, "A typical Day's Work". All in all, each monograph is very complete and contains interesting and helpful information.

MORE U. S. MOTORISTS CROSSING RIO GRANDE. Laredo, Tex. —(AP)—More than 100,000 American tourists entered Mexico through this border city during the first eight months of 1937.

In this period there were 1,000 more cars crossing the line at Laredo than during the entire year of 1936. Heaviest travel both years was in June, July and August.

ROWLEY REPORTS ON BOY SURVEY AT LOVELAND

Cub Pack Projected For Neighborhood May Desire It

Scout Executive E. A. Rowley made a boy fact survey in the Loveland school yesterday afternoon and found the following conditions existing there: There are eight boys nine years old and they all want to be Cubs. Seven boys 10 years of age all of whom want to be Cubs, nine boys 11 years of age and they all want to be Cubs. In other words, every one of the 24 boys of ages, 9, 10 and 11 years want to be Cubs.

Six of the seven 12-year-old boys want to be Scouts, seven of the nine boys who are 13 years old want to join a Scout troop, and four of the five boys older than 13 years want to be Scouts. In other words there are 16 boys of Scout age who want to be Scouts and only four who don't want to.

With 24 boys of Cub age it would seem there should be a Cub pack in the neighborhood. This number of boys would make three or four nice sized Dens and would be enough to create a lot of interest and accomplish a lot of worthwhile things.

With 17 boys who want to be Scouts there should be a Scout troop in the neighborhood. Not a single boy in this school is an active Scout. The reason probably is that there are no troops in this section of the city. The nearest troop meeting place is at the Grace Evangelical church which is a mile from the Loveland school.

Just as soon as the parents in this community become interested enough to find a sponsoring institution and proper leadership, steps will be taken to organize a Cub pack and Scout troop. E. A. Rowley, Scout executive, will present the matter to the parents at the P. T. A. meeting on Monday evening, Oct. 11. Every parent, dad as well as mother, is urged to come and learn more about this Scouting and Cubbing program.

REPORT JAPANESE ASSURED ITALIAN GENERAL SUPPORT

Italy Reported to Approve Measures in China

Tokyo, Oct. 9.—(AP)—The Domei (Japanese) News Agency reported today that Italian Ambassador Giacinto Auriti assured Kensuke Horinouchi, Japanese vice minister of foreign affairs, that Italy approves Japan's measures in China and "will never spare general support to Japan."

The Italian embassy declined to make any comment to the Associated Press on the report.

Domei said Auriti gave his assurances to Horinouchi in a formal visit and authorized the vice minister

V. F. W. will be hosts of the Blackhawk Council in Dixon. A program of entertainment has been arranged.

to convey the Italian stand to the whole nation.

Meanwhile, authoritative Japanese sources expressed surprise over the mildness of a foreign office answer to League of Nations and United States condemnation of Japan as an invader in China.

Accuse China. The foreign office statement disclaimed any territorial ambitions for Japan and accused China of aggression by provocative acts, among them plans to murder 30,000 Japanese, including women and children, on Chinese soil.

The Associated Press learned from a reliable source that the original plan was to comment separately on the United States and League of Nations actions. Separate statements were said to have been ready for release Friday night. This plan, this source said, was abandoned at the eleventh hour for the answer announced today and no reason was given for the change.

VOICE HEARD 'ROUND THE WORLD

President Roosevelt's Chicago speech in dedicating a new bridge took a turn on events far more significant than lake shore traffic, and was heard around the world. In effect the president pledged the United States' moral support in preservation of peace by co-operation among nations now striving to prevent war.

Japan, Germany and fascist Spain found little of comfort in it. Great Britain assumed that the speech meant closer cooperation with the 9-power treaty signatories and those which adhered to the Kellogg-Briand pact.

If the British had been as accustomed to dealing with Roosevelt as the president's own people have been, however, they might have accepted the lecture with a grain of salt. The British ought to have been wise, too, for their own statesmen have been saying one thing and meaning another for generations. Also they have been saying much and meaning exactly nothing, which is one of Roosevelt's habits.

Those who, as result of the president's speech, are looking to us to protect their investments, interests and treaty rights in the near east, far east and in Europe should not climb too far out on the end of the limb, for they may find themselves marooned there, as Mr. Stimson, former American secretary of state, found himself marooned by the British a few years ago.

If the British are seeking information, they can learn with little difficulty that Roosevelt has neglected, thus far, to protect American interests in China. Furthermore, our British friends will find the United States still vexed about the war debts. Besides, the president can not declare war nor conclude treaties except through the advice and consent of both houses of congress in case of war, and the senate in case of treaties.

HERE COMES THE BRIDE

The Duke and Duchess of Windsor will visit the United States, greatly to the delight of the people of the United States.

Paul Mallon says the state department does not look upon the coming event as one of unmixed joy, because consideration will, of necessity, be given both to the American bride and her ex-king of Great Britain, and to the British government as now constituted.

We can not guarantee that the duke and the duchess will be protected from mobs, from inquiring reporters, and from the candid camera kids. In fact, we can guarantee that they will meet all these peoples somewhere along their line of travel.

Our people will enjoy the event, as they took keen interest in the romance, which had all the qualities of great fiction, but was grounded in truth. We like our foreign guests, whether they may be Prince Henry or Queen Marie. We always give them a run for their money.

PIONEER RAILROAD IS JUNKED

Rolling stock, rails, right of way, terminal property, and buildings of the Jacksonville & Havana railroad were sold recently, the successful bidder being the Chase National bank, and the bid being $119,000.

Thus passes one of the pioneer railroads of Illinois. The section between Virginia and Pekin was constructed in 1853, and the track between Jacksonville and Virginia was laid in the '60s.

This railroad, forty-one miles long, had been operated as a unit during the last ten years, but for many years it was a part of the Chicago, Peoria & St. Louis, which ceased to operate in 1926. This system extended from St. Louis to Springfield, Jacksonville, Havana, and Peoria. Efforts were made, of course, along the line to save as much as could be kept in operation. In its various parts it has been operated under various names and interests.

We used to think that a railroad could stand any kind of pressure, but we found that you can break a railroad just as you can break an individual.

When a railroad gets to the point where it has to pay out more than it takes in, it's broke, and we have been breaking the railroads one by one by law.

PEORIA VOTES FOR AIRPORT

Peoria was squarely up against a decision as to whether or not it should reestablish itself on the air transportation map, and it decided so to do. It voted the tax necessary to make adequate airport provisions.

Oddly enough the Illinois law providing for acquisition of lands for municipal airports was sponsored originally by Senator John Dailey of Peoria, and was designed for the needs of that city. It was improved and shaped to take in needs of other cities. So, while Peoria originally was in the front rank of cities developing air transportation, the industry grew away from it, and the city now is without direct air mail facilities. The situation at Peoria was stated editorially by the Peoria Transcript as follows:

"The federal government closed the local airport last July because its facilities were not adequate for the operation of the larger ships. Peoria may regain its place on the lighted airways only by complying with government requirements. It's a clear case of the government gives and the government takes away. Aviation is progressing rapidly. Neither the federal government nor an aviation company has time or disposition to argue with transient communities. Their injunction is, 'Take it or leave it.' . . . Lighted airways constitute a permanent investment by government and air lines. They are analogous to railroad track. They can not be re-routed for the accommodation of repentant communities."

That is a fair statement of the case as it is presented to all cities that hope to be on lines of air transportation. As lines now are routed, it is not given to every city to make a choice. Many simply are off the routes by reason of lack of proper relationship to courses between principal terminals. Others are off only because they are not alive to their opportunities and do not make the necessary investments for airports.

Peoria was on the air mail route between Chicago and St. Louis when it was instituted. It now is off because it did not keep up with the procession and meet the demand for accommodations for the larger ships.

Air line corporations had the alternative of going to Bloomington, and Peoria was confronted with having the air line or seeing it go to a neighbor.

The decision was to levy the tax and to make the investment necessary to retain a place on the air map.

In the course of a geology field-trip a group of students came to the corner of a field which was to be crossed and which had a path running diagonally across the field to the opposite corner. This path zig-zagged in regular right-angle steps clear across. The field was square, 100 yards on a side, and had another path running from the corner around the two sides to the opposite corner.

The professor on the field-trip was a trick mathematician and said to the students, with a twinkle in his eye, that it was just as far across the diagonal as round the two sides even if the diagonal were straight because if each zig and zag were twenty-five yards as diagram A shows, there are eight of them making 200 yards or the same distance as around the two sides. If, as in diagram B, the zig-zag was in units of 20 or in zig-zags of 10 like C or even in very small units like D there would still be enough to make 200 yards and eventually the line would straighten out so the distance is as far as going around.

Obviously this reasoning is contrary to our beliefs. What is the solution? Is the professor right or wrong? Why?

hard as nails, almost in the same instant. Usually it is the latter.

Two things have put Dave Beck ahead in life. One is mailed-list tactics, the others is selling employers on union organization. And it was CIO and Eastern sit-down strikes which gave him his biggest chance.

When the sit-down strikes got started Beck went to Seattle employers, waved the danger flag as to what would happen to them if the CIO got a foothold, told them to sign up with more conservative unions in order to stave off a worse fate.

The strategy worked. Employers don't particularly relish Beck, but they give him credit for keeping his word. When he signs an agreement, he sticks to it.

Boycott of CIO

Beck uses the mailed-list and makes no bones about it. His staff includes a gang of imported strong-arm men, known locally as the "goon squad". He rules his tough questions with an iron hand and sometimes puts to them like this: "All in favor say 'Aye'; opposed, 'No' and be prepared to go to the hospital."

Beck's chief weapon against the CIO has been the boycott. This he has used with deadly effectiveness against the insurgent maritime unions in Seattle, Portland and other Northwest cities.

When the lumber mill workers booted the A. F. of L. and in an election conducted by the Labor Board voted CIO, Beck promptly denounced the Board as biased and refused to let his teamsters haul CIO-made lumber. Backstopping him in this slashing offensive, A. F. of L. carpenters, whom he also controls, slapped on still another boycott declaring they would not handle materials produced by CIO workers.

Result: Building operations have practically ceased, rivers are choked with logs, mills and lumber camps are shut down and docks and warehouses are filled to overflowing with millions of dollars of boycotted goods—some of it perishable produce.

Jurisdictional warfare in labor never reached such ruinous extravagance as is being witnessed in the Northwest today. When the President visited Seattle last week he was told that if Beck attempts to open the lumber mills with A. F. of L. minions there will be violence and bloodshed.

This was one of the factors which made Roosevelt return East convinced that perhaps the chief problem of the New Deal was not the Supreme Court, budget balancing, or war in Asia, but the growing bitterness between the rival camps of labor.

DOERING COLD TO APPOINTMENT RELIEF COUNCIL

Chicago, Oct. 10.—(AP)—Otto C. Doering, chairman of an Illinois relief commission whose major proposals were not adopted by the legislature, has declined to accept Governor Horner's appointment to serve on the state's new permanent relief council.

Doering was out of the city but associates said that he had written Governor Horner notifying him he would "be unable" to act with the new board, to be known as the Illinois council on public assistance and employment.

The Doering commission, in its first report of July, 1935, urged "eventual" abolition of the Illinois Emergency Relief Commission and consolidation of relief control in a reorganized state welfare department to be directed by a non-political welfare board.

Answer to Question No. 1

1. Yes, but some people have so little rhythm, they can hardly walk in step with any one else and are always falling over themselves. Arthur Murray, who has taught 50,000 people to dance says he has found only two people who did not have enough rhythm to learn ordinary dance steps. However, learning to dance like Fred Astaire or Eleanor Powell or to play "swing" like Benny Goodman requires a sense of rhythm beyond most people. Rhythm is inborn and cannot be improved by practice.

3. As discussed in Science Service they may become a serious menace. Disease is spread fastest by people travelling and with thousands of families visiting each other in the camps, many camps in unsanitary conditions, the milk and food supply not properly inspected, children playing together with communicable disease—all these factors are giving Health Boards serious concern. Mildred Segner Is Bride of John White At Lovely Ceremony

Today at 11 o'clock at St. Luke's Episcopal church, historic and beautiful, occurred the wedding of two of Dixon's prominent young people, John B. White and Mildred Segner. Two hundred guests were invited to attend the impressive service.

Promptly at the appointed hour from the organ came the tuneful strains of the well-known wedding march from Lohengrin, always beautiful and impressive.

To this accompaniment, the matron of honor, Mrs. Kenyon B. Segner, Jr., dressed in a becoming gown of velvet proceeded down the long aisle followed by the bride, a lovely blonde, whose gown was of grape color velvet, with hat of the same hue.

The bride's bouquet was of autumn color dahlias, a charming accessory to the bridal costume. The young lady upon the arm of her father, Dr. Kenyon B. Segner, followed the matron of honor. They were met at the altar by the groom, his best man, Wm. Krug, and the Rev. Father Norman B. Burke, rector of St. Luke's, who performed the wedding ceremony uniting the couple in holy matrimony. This service was immediately followed by Holy Communion for the bride and groom, after which Clinton Fahrney, organist of St. Luke's, again showed his ability as an artist when he rendered superbly the gay and enchanting Mendelssohn's Wedding March as the bridal party was leaving the church.

The beauty of St. Luke's was enhanced by gorgeous autumn foliage of variegated colors, arranged by the members of the Delta Kappa Delta Alumni society of the church. The altar with white chrysanthemums, astors and white lighted candles made a pleasing background for the bridal party.

The groom and best man wore the conventional black.

The ushers were Willard Thompson, Jr., and Robert Sterling, Jr. They all wore boutonnieres corresponding in color with the bride and matron of honor flowers. The bride's going away costume was an attractive red ensemble. The bride's mother, Mrs. Kenyon B. Segner, Sr., was gowned in a becoming red gown. She wore a black hat.

Mrs. White, mother of the groom, wore green velvet with hat to match.

Out-of-town relatives and guests included: Mrs. Helen Segner, Chicago; Miss Avonnel Books, Chicago; Miss Billie Scott, Davenport, Ia.; Miss Virginia Smith, Springfield, Ill.

Immediately after the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the Rice Tea Rooms.

Both bride and groom are members of well-known families in Dixon where they have hosts of friends. John White is the son of Mrs. Harry A. White and his bride is a daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Kenyon B. Segner. Mr. White is connected with the I. N. U. Co., in Dixon.

The happy couple left by motor for the east on their honeymoon trip. Upon their return they will reside with the groom's mother at 405 E. Second street.

M. E. CONFERENCE FAVORS ECONOMIC BOYCOTT OF JAPAN

Asks Boycott of Nations Responsible for Warfare

Rockford, Ill., Oct. 9.—(AP)—The Rock River Conference of the Methodist Episcopal church was on record today in favor of an economic boycott against Japan and other nations "responsible for aggressive warfare."

A public report adopted by the conference last night read in part: "In order to stop the killing of Chinese and Japanese boys and innocent civilians, children of God, we call upon our people to refuse to buy goods in nations responsible for aggressive warfare."

The report censured Italy and Germany for their parts in the Spanish civil war and criticized Italy for its conquest of Ethiopia. President Roosevelt and Secretary of State Cordell Hull were praised by the delegates for their efforts to induce American citizens to leave the war zone, and commendation was expressed for "the courage of our missionaries who are staying by the people in their hour of need."

Caution Labor Labor was cautioned by the conference that it must assume greater responsibility for the common good of all. Collective bargaining rights for workers were approved by the conference.

A resolution adopted by the Federation of Social Service said "extreme and unnecessary violence" was used by Chicago police in the Memorial Day steel strike riot in which 10 men were killed. A parade of strikers and sympathizers which preceded the riot was called "ill advised" in the resolution.

The annual report of five district superintendents commended pastors for taking part in the settlement of labor disputes and stated "it is the duty of the church to speak with authority upon all moral and ethical questions."

Alfred C. Crawford of Chicago (Trinity M. E. church) re-elected president of the law members of the conference. Judge George N. Blatt of Joliet was named vice president-at-large; H. L. Davis of Evanston, secretary and Herman Dimond of Aurora, treasurer. District vice presidents chosen were Dr. A. W. Swift, Belvidere; Burt T. Wheeler, Chicago; Mrs. W. H. Dangel, Oak Park; Rockwell F. Clancy, Chicago, and Bert G. Martin, Joliet.

Elect Trustee Dr. Ernest Fremont Tittle of Evanston was elected a trustee of Northwestern University by the general conference. He succeeds Aubrey S. Moore of Chicago. Other trustees chosen were F. Obituary

Mrs. Mary Miller

Mrs. Mary Miller passed away on Tuesday morning at her home south of town where she had lived for 37 years. Mrs. Miller had reached the age of 71 years, five months and four days.

Mrs. Miller, who was Mary Lena Nass was born May 1, 1866 in Bradford township. She joined the Ashton Evangelical church in early childhood and had been a very faithful member until ill health kept her at home.

On February 4, 1892 she was united in marriage with Harvey M. Miller of this place. Five children were born to this union, one son dying in infancy. The are Mrs. Bertha Krug of Ashton; Frank J. Miller of Dixon; Roy H. Miller and Elmer J. Miller of south of Franklin Grove.

Fourteen years ago, almost to the day of Mrs. Miller's death, her husband passed away at their home south of this place, on October 6, 1923. Surviving Mrs. Miller are her four children, three grandchildren, and two brothers, Oscar Nass of this community and Harry Nass of Ashton. Five brothers and sisters preceded her in death.

Funeral services were held on Thursday afternoon in the Ashton Evangelical church, Rev. Parke O. Bailey, pastor of the church, having charge of the services. Burial was made in the Emmert cemetery west of this place. Casket bearers were: Charles Pyle, Fred Bettendorf, Wilbur Dysart, Arthur Schafer, Harvey and Arthur Brucker.

In College Work

Rev. L. W. Stiller, a former pastor of the local Methodist Episcopal church, announces that he will take a year's sabbatical leave this year from his ministerial duties to become director of public relations of Lake College of Commerce at Waukegan.

Rev. Stiller was here Wednesday afternoon greeting friends that he made when he and his family resided here. He concluded his pastorate at Antioch last Sunday and will take over his work at which he has been associated for the past six months. He will have charge of the student activities of the commerce college and is to maintain contacts with industries in six counties in the lake shore area. The Stiller family will reside in Waukegan.

Retires As Manager

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Farmers Telephone company was held Saturday afternoon. Three directors were elected for a term of three years: William H. Ventler of Ashton and Grant Fuller of Lee Center were elected to succeed themselves, and George Killmer of Lee Center was elected to fill the vacancy caused by the death of the late George Blocher.

George W. Schafer who has been the efficient manager of the company since its organization has asked to be relieved of his duties owing to his advancing years. Mr. Schafer has always been very obliging in every way. He has been a good manager, has guided the company through some very difficult problems, financially and otherwise.

It Can Be Done

We have always been under the impression that the Idaho potatoes could only be raised in Idaho, the soil being the right kind. Sunday when Charles Pyle was at our home he spoke of raising about forty bushel of Idaho potatoes. Naturally we were surprised to learn that it could be done right on the Fred Gross farm south of town. To further prove that he had raised the Idaho potatoes Charley brought to our home Wednesday afternoon a dandy sample and were they lovely "taters," looked and tasted just like the shipped in Idaho potatoes. One is never to old to learn. Thanks, Charley, for the information and the potatoes also.

Home Again

The many friends of ex-coroner Dr. Frank M. Banker will be glad to learn that he was able to be brought home from the hospital Wednesday afternoon and is very comfortable. He is improving each day.

Baseball

The Franklin Grove high school baseball team suffered its second defeat of the season at the hands of Lee Center by a score of 12-0. Although the boys made a number of hits they were unable to hit at the opportune times. There were also a number of errors to further cause difficulty. This was partially due to the fact that two of the regular players were ineligible for this game.

The resume of the game is as follows:

Catechetical instruction Saturday at 1:30 p. m.

Our Mission Festival last Sunday was a great success. We worshipped God in our Sanctuary morning and evening. The messages were inspiring and we hope they will bear fruit. The offering was the best we have had for quite a number of years. It amounted to $396. There are still over 100 envelopes which have not been returned. We hope that the memory of our festival will linger long in the minds of our people.

Next Friday, October 15, the young people of our church will present the comedy, "He Was a Gay Senorita," in the Memorial gymnasium.

GIANTS ENTER FOURTH GAME HUMILIATED

Not Even Gomez Is Called On To Oppose Hubbell

New York, Oct. 9.—(AP)—It's no contest, and whoever forced the Giants to get out there and make saps of themselves was guilty of unfair practices, at least.

Three games down—8-1, 8-1 and 8-1—the Polo Grounders went into the fourth and probably the final game against the Yankees today as limp as an 1894 corset out of the attic trunk.

Bill Terry, their manager, admitted after yesterday's third straight trouncing that he was "embarrassed." He said he was worse than that—but not for publication.

Bill was in almost as great a daze as were the young men he had previously been proud to manage. He announced, weakly, that Carl Hubbell would brave the Yankee bats again today, and that Harry Danning would catch, and then he said: "Nuts."

And that was how it was. Hubbell, knocked from the box in the opening game, had to give it another try today, even if his 34 years howled for an additional day's rest. The Yankees, gloating in their easy mastery, were able to send a second-string pitcher, Bump Hadley, out for the clincher.

Terry's Pride Hurt That was the thing that appeared to hurt Terry most—when he heard that his managerial rival, Joe McCarthy, was going to use a fourth pitcher instead of shooting Lefty Gomez in there again. The colonel seemed to feel that his club at least deserved to be licked by the best.

There was an off-chance, of course, that the National leaguers would stage a comeback today behind Hubbell. Carlos still is a great pitcher, as he demonstrated for five innings in the first game. He might, the Giants' last-ditch supporters declared, start a rally that would pull the World Series out of the fire.

But on fairly impartial observer, who had watched the Yanks assert their superiority the last three afternoons could agree there was better than a 1000 to 1 chance. There wasn't any comparison between the teams, yesterday or the two previous days.

Some were beginning to ask: "Why a World Series?" They could even ask, with some justice: "Why the Yankees?"

A team so obviously in a class by itself should be forced to form its own league and not go around picking on nice young men like the Giants. It's neither sporting nor particularly profitable. Only 37,000 paid their way into yesterday's abattoir.

Yank Pitching Surprising The greatest surprise has been the Yankee pitching. Because of the dizzy scores piled up all year by Joe Di Maggio, Lou Gehrig, Bill Dickey and the other mammoths, it had become popular to suppose that the American league pachyderms were blundering through behind a collection of throwers. The Giants were supposed to have the pitching, the Yankees the batting.

Now, at this late date, it comes to light that McCarthy's pitchers can really fog a ball across. After Monte Pearson's exhibition yesterday, in which he retired the first 14 Giants to face him and allowed only five hits all told, Terry gave grudging testimony: "Either they have some great pitchers or my boys are all blind."

Pearson finally went out in the ninth, when the Giants filled the sacks with two away, but that scarcely dimmed the brilliance of his work. Johnny Murphy pitched to the last man, Harry Danning, and caused him to fly out. That was the closest that the Giants had come to injecting themselves into the series in three days. Danning could have tied the score with a home run. He could have been elected president, too, with enough votes.

There was a possibility that Terry would change his lineup today. His volunteer advisors were suggesting after yesterday's debacle that he get Hank Leiber, Wally Berger and Sam Leslie in there somewhere. None of the three is a twinkling star, but each has been known to get a base hit on occasion. Anything they might contribute along the latter line would be a change, at least. But Terry didn't know. He didn't even seem to care. All he would swear to was that Hubbell would pitch and Danning catch. Gus Man-

CUBS GO AFTER THIRD WIN IN CITY SERIES

Stand Good Chance Of Breaking Sox Victory String

Chicago, Oct. 9.—(AP)—The Chicago Cubs, apparently determined to use their home town rivals to prove they are a better team than their recent National League race collapse indicated, went after a third victory over the White Sox today in the fourth game of the 22nd city championship series.

Holding an advantage of two victories to one for the White Sox, the Cubs sent husky Bill Lee, a right-hander, after another win which would make the National Leaguers strong favorites to crack the string of three straight championships captured by the American League club. The Sox's pitching choice was Johnny Whitehead, also a right-hander.

If the same brand of pitching that has marked the skirmish thus far holds out today, the plate averages of the losers will continue to suffer. In the opener, Tex Carleton hurled the Cubs to victory on a five-hit performance. In the second game, Vern Kennedy of the White Sox turned back the Cubs on a three-hit chore, and yesterday as the Cubs went out in front, Larry French repulsed the White Sox 4 to 1 on a four-hit masterpiece.

Plenty of Help French had plenty of help from his mates, notably Catcher Gabby Hartnett, the north side club's "Grand Old Man." Hartnett socked a homer in the third inning with Billy Herman on base. Then in the next frame, apparently deciding to take part in this offensive as well as defensive duties, French banged a triple to score Augie Galan, who had doubled. The final Cub run came in the fifth on a double, two passes and an error.

One of the four hits allowed by French was a disputed homer by Jackie Hayes which saved the Sox from a shutout. The ball hit near the top of the wall and bounced into the seats. The Cub protest that the hit should be held to a ground rule double got nowhere with Umpire Ziggy Sears of the National League.

McKendree Team Completes Nine Passes Wins 12-0

Chillicothe, Mo., Oct. 9.—(AP)—McKendree College of Lebanon, Ill., completed nine passes yesterday for a total of 81 yards in 27 tries, but the Chillicothe business college intercepted one pass and blocked a punt to win a 12 to 0 victory with two touchdowns in a football game here.

'DEPRESSION BABIES' LOWER ENROLLMENT

Indianapolis.—(AP)—Six hundred fewer beginners enrolled in Indianapolis schools this fall than last. School commissioners attributed the decline to the fact that this year is the first in which "depression babies" reached school age. A decline in the birth rate was one of the results of the depression, they said.

GEHRINGERTOOK BATTING HONORS
JUNIOR CIRCUIT

Chicago, Oct. 9.—(AP)—The New York Yankees won the American league pennant in a walk, but they had no struggle hold on junior circuit individual honors for the 1937 season.
 Unofficial averages released today, which are subject to approval of league statisticians, show that Detroit's Tigers, in addition to finishing second in the team standings, knocked off the team hitting and field honors and landed four players in the circuit's top-flight list of batsmen.
 Charley Gehring, Detroit's ace second basemen, wound up the season with a batting average of .371, giving him his first league title.

CAST OF CHARACTERS
FRISCELLA PIERCE—heroine, young woman attorney.
AMY KERR—Pierce's roommate and murderer's victim.
JIM KERRIGAN—City's dance-hall bouncer.
HARRY HUTCHINS—Amy's strange visitor.
SERGEANT DOLAN—officer assigned to solve the murder of Amy Kerr.

Yesterday, Mrs. Downey testified that she heard a man running down the stairs right after the murder and then in tense, dramatic fashion she went on, "But that isn't all, sergeant; that isn't all."

CHAPTER XXI

A BREATHELESS silence fell upon the room. Every eye was fastened upon Mrs. Downey; every ear awaited her disclosure. Cilly wondered if other hearts beat as furiously as her own. She moved her chair a little to the left in order not to be so directly behind the woman. She dreaded missing a word of her story.

"Yes, Mrs. Downey?" Sergeant Dolan urged.

"It was about 4 o'clock in the morning. I was so upset, I tell you, that I couldn't sleep much more that night. I kept hearing that poor girl's scream over and over again. Lucille was up, too, until after 2 o'clock, but I gave her one of my sleeping powders—she had to be to school in the morning—and she fell asleep."

"I stayed awake. I was afraid to take a powder myself for fear something else might happen. I had the funniest feeling, sergeant. I kept thinking if I fell asleep I might walk in my sleep and fall out the window just as that poor girl had fallen. I tell you, I'll never forget it."

Sergeant Dolan tapped impatiently on the desk with his pencil.

"I GUESS it must have been about 4 o'clock," she went on. "I know I looked at the clock at 20 minutes to 4, and this was some time after that. I was out in the kitchen getting a drink of water—the water is always colder there than in the bathroom—and I heard the door of the next apartment—that's 4-B—slowly opening. I can always tell the sound because the door squeaks a little."

"Well, I thought it was a funny time for Mrs. Wheeler to be going out. Even if she were sick or something, the drugstore would be closed. I was a little worried about her. Living there all alone like she does, I knew how frightened she must have been, just like the rest of us. I tell you, if I didn't have Lucille, I wouldn't have stayed in that apartment alone that night. No, sir. I'd rather have slept in the subway. So I thought if Mrs. Wheeler were nervous, she might just as well come in and spend the rest of the night with us, and sleep on the couch. I went to the door to tell her so.

"And then, just as I was about to unlock the door, I heard a low voice in the hall. It was only a whisper, but it was a man's voice—you know how loud a man usually whispers. So I just opened that little peep-hole on my door to see if the man was really coming out of Mrs. Wheeler's. He was, all right. I could see him plain as day, with the hall light shining right in his face. He was still whispering. I heard him say: 'Everything will be all right, Helen. Nobody'll suspect . . .'

Sergeant Dolan straightened, his pencil poised in midair.

"You're sure you heard that, Mrs. Downey? You're sure those were the exact words?"

MRS. DOWNEY pressed her lips together positively. "I'm absolutely certain, sergeant," she said emphatically. "Mind you, I didn't just wake up out of a sound sleep like I do sometimes. I didn't imagine this. I was as wide awake then as I am now, and I saw that man as plain as day, and I heard those words. 'Everything will be all right, Helen,' he says, 'nobody'll suspect . . .'

I tell you, I wish I knew then that there'd been a murder committed!"

She nodded her head expressively.

"Mrs. Downey, would you recognize this man if you were to see him again?"

"Indeed I would. . . . Why, I saw him as well as I see you sitting there, sergeant. I recognized his face the minute I saw it again."

"What?"

"I say I did see him again."

As if an electric shock had coursed through the room, every person stiffened to attention. Mr. Corbett gripped the arms of his chair fiercely. Mr. Hunter leaned so far forward in his chair that his wife laid a restraining hand on his arm. Every eye was glued on Mrs. Downey.

"Where did you see him, Mrs. Downey?"

"In this morning's paper," she stated. "He was in the picture taken at the poor girl's funeral yesterday. He was standing right in front of the camera. Oh, I knew him all right."

Tense muscles relaxed for the moment, there were a few deep breaths drawn. None of the men here had been at Amy's funeral. "What paper was this in, Mrs. Downey?"

"In the NEWS, sergeant. I like to read the NEWS—it's so much more interesting . . ."

BOYCOTT THREAT REAL WORRY TO ISLAND EMPIRE

Lacks Minerals Vital To Munitions For Modern Warfare

The question of embargoes of shipments to warring nations, now before the League of Nations, is cause for concern to Japan which depends on foreign products for some food and many of its strategic war materials.

"The problem of food for men in Japan is one of the more readily solved in the present crisis because the Nipponese are simple, almost stolid, in their needs, and patient in their farming. The main items on a year's food bill for one person are five and a half bushels of rice and 95 1/2 pounds of fish," says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society. "A more luxurious diet includes wheat and meat; a more economical one substitutes barley for some of the rice."

Seventh of Country Farmed
"Although three-fourths of Japan's area is tilted at angles of more than fifteen degrees, in 1931 Nippon farmers cultivated about a seventh of the country's total area. Fishermen scour nearby waters for a catch of sea-bream, mackerel, herring, tunny, and sardines which makes Japan the foremost fishing nation of the world."

"Foodstuffs imported in 1934 amounted to only a tenth of total imports, and consisted mainly of rice from India, wheat from Australia and America, beans and salt from Manchuria, and sugar from Cuba and the Netherlands Indies. "Iron ore, essential diet of an army, was quite a different matter. During the same period, 79 per cent of the ore used was imported. Chief iron regions within Japan proper are the hills of Kitakami near Sendai, on the main island of Honshu, and the southwestern mountains around Muroran of Hokkaido Island to the north."

Lacking in Minerals
"Output of these areas is supplemented by pig iron from Chosen and Manchuria. For additional supplies of this basic metal, Japan looks to foreign sources. Scrap iron may account for two-thirds of the iron fed into Japan's steel mills, and, in 1935, 78 per cent of the imported scrap came from the United States."

"Essential to steel making is coal. Some imported coal is mixed with the native variety for blast furnaces. Only one per cent of the coal used is imported, however, since Japan is Asia's leading coal producer. Principal coal fields are those on the two islands adjacent to Honshu, Hokkaido on the north and Kyushu on the south. This is Japan's most plentiful mineral."

"Next in importance to coal and iron for steel production is manganese, a grayish metal more precious than gold in today's steel manufacture. Near Kyoto, and on the island of Hokkaido, manganese deposits are worked, but during the period of 1933-35 Japan relied on imports for 63 per cent of the ore used."

"Nippon lacks an adequate supply of these alloy metals, a little of which plays a great part in the modern production of special steel products. Of vanadium, Japan produces none. Imports of nickel for bullet jackets may be decreased by a new industry planned to work ores in Gumma north of Tokyo. Molybdenum and tungsten, which help steel keep a cutting edge despite high temperatures, can both be obtained at home to some extent. Japan produces about two per cent of the world's tungsten. With chromium the Japanese earth is more generous, yielding enough to make the country in normal times independent of outside sources of this element so important in stainless steel, armor plate, gun carriages, projectiles, paints, and tanning leathers."

"A very serious problem to mechanical Japan is oil, quite essential to make the wheels of work and war go round. In 1935, the country was importing 92 per cent of the petroleum used."

"Lead for paint, pipes, batteries, and bullets is found in Japan in smaller quantities than it is imported from the United States. Last year Japan mined only fifteen per cent of the zinc she used for 'galvanized' iron and other purposes."

"Tin, for canning, roofing, tanks, for soldering and welding other metals, and for producing chemicals and military flares, is found in five provinces in Japan, especially around Akenobe. But it is estimated that the domestic supply is only about 20 per cent sufficient, since four-fifths of the tin bars and pigs used in 1933-35 were imported. The same proportion holds for aluminum, so important in airplane manufacture."

"The Nipponese production of antimony, which alloys lead in shrapnel and makes smoke screens, was about one fourth-hundredth as large as China's in 1935. In copper mining only does Japan rank as a world factor, being one of the four leading countries; yet in 1935 she imported over a third of the copper she used."

Wool is another essential for which Japan is dependent on other countries. Mercury, silvery metal named for the high-flying Grecian god, soars in importance when war looms because of its sinister use in setting off high explosives and percussion caps. A few flasks are produced in Japan, about one-thousandth of the world's output, but more than two thousand times as much as was imported in 1934."

State Hospital

By G. E. PHILLIPS
From a close friend of Chas. Moyer, who it is said has developed a strong liking for watermelon during the past couple of months we learn that Charlie contemplates several intensive hunting expeditions during the coming fall and winter. Joseph and Mrs. Vassau are planning on visiting their children at home for several days during the coming week.

We attended a test showing of a new motion picture machine the institution is considering purchasing at the Amusement hall Thursday evening. Two short comedies were shown but they demonstrated a cleanliness of vision and superior acoustical facilities which to us seemed a vast improvement over the old machine.

Preliminary plans for two monster boxing nights that for some years has been a feature of the Christmas celebration at this hospital were revealed yesterday by their correspondent by Walter "Jack" Sharkey who will act as matchmaker and promoter of the affair.

Entries for the bouts which are to be of three rounds each are sought from any employees interested. Contestants are asked to get in touch with Manager Sharkey. "As a special feature of the show," said Manager Sharkey last evening "I will undertake to meet any employee in a bout myself."

In this special bout there is no stipulation as to weight except that my opponent shall not be lighter than Jas. Trayner nor heavier than Uncle Bud.

Bouts will be divided into the usual classes by weight and every effort will be made to see to it that contestants are evenly matched. A competent corps of officials headed by Mr. Sharkey himself will officiate at all the bouts.

"I should strongly advise all contestants," said Mr. Sharkey "to begin a course of training for the events at once. This should involve plenty of sleep, attention to diet, and some exercise calculated to place the contestant in the best of shape physically the evening of the bouts."

To make sure that the surface coating of reflectors in the headlamps of one low-priced automobile is a layer of pure silver and is up to specifications, chemists strip it off the reflector with nitro-sulphuric acid and test it. m

It is good to carry a set of flares along when doing night driving because when you have to change a tire or make repairs on the road the flare makes it possible for an approaching driver to see you clearly.

Patty Berg Plays Mrs. Estelle Page For Women's Title

Memphis, Tenn., Oct. 9.—(AP)—The national women's golf championship lay today between Patty Berg of Minneapolis, a fairway veteran at 19, and Mrs. Estelle Lawson Page, Greensboro, N. C., matron.

This pair of long-knocking shot-makers aspire to the title relinquished by England's Pam Barton.

Mrs. Page, who has never before met Miss Berg in competitive golf, was taught the fine points of the game by her father, Robert Lawson, one-time pitcher with the old Baltimore Orioles and now a physical education instructor at the University of North Carolina.

Kathryn Hemphill, attractive stylist of Columbia, S. C., was her semi-final victim yesterday, 1 up in 19 holes after Mrs. Page had trailed by two holes through the 15th.

Miss Berg, an easy 7-6 victor over

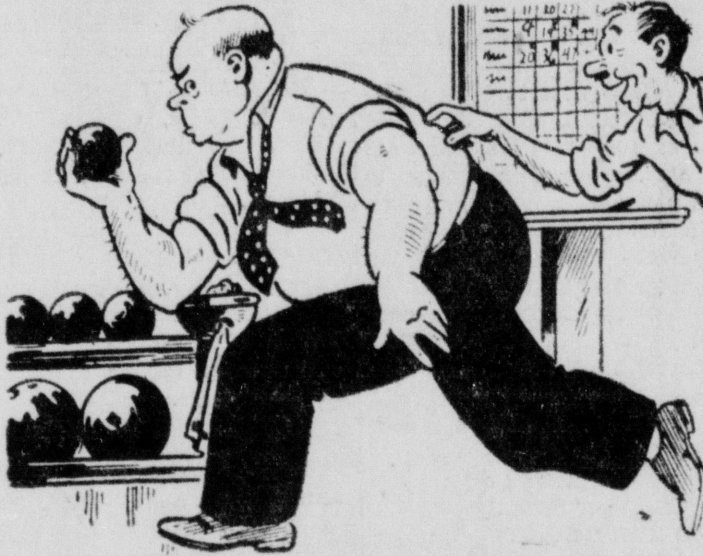

Mrs. Gregg Lill of Pacific Palisades, Calif., is playing in her third national. She lost in the finals two years ago and last season was eliminated in the third round.

The latest army fighting plane departing from conventional military design, reverts to the pusher type of pioneer aviation days. Twin motors drive the two propellers mounted behind the wings. This leaves clear vision and a free field for the gunners, pilot and observers.

A proving ground to train automobile drivers has been proposed for use in Washington and other American cities. The plan calls for one-way streets, traffic signals, safety zones and regulating signs to be installed on that special course.

Lieut. M. J. Adam of the British Royal Air Force recently piloted his plane to a record altitude of 53,937 feet. He was clad in a special rubber suit and oxygen helmet.
